Think Wikipedia for kids, only more fun, and you've got Wonderopolis. Sponsored by the National Foundation for Family Literacy, each day a new "Wonder of the Day" topic answers questions your kids have and ones they never even knew to ask. What's the difference between a rabbit and a hare; what is humidity; and who invented LEGOs. Admit it—you want to know too, right?

DID YOU KNOW?

Each of us at SCCSD receives 30 GB of free storage to share between Google Drive, Gmail messages, and Google+ Photos. Saving files in Microsoft Office format or OpenOffice format can fill your storage space quickly. If you save files to your Google Drive in one of the Google formats, such as Docs, Sheets, or Slides, it won't count against your storage limit!
